Chicago's Haymarket Riot

In response to an inquiry, The Courier-Journal gives an epitome of notorious Haymarket riot which was the outgrowth of a strike of 40,000 Chicago workmen on May 1st, 1886. On May 3d the strikers attacked the workmen of the McCormick plant, who had not joined them in the strike. Policemen were called, and in the clash that followed half a dozen men were wounded. That night handbills, printed in English and German, were spread broadcast over Chicago, reading thus:

"Attention, Workmen! Great mass-meeting at 7:30 o'clock at Haymarket, Randolph street, between Desplaines and Halstead. Good speakers will be present to denounce the latest atrocious act of the police, the shooting of our fellow-workmen yesterday afternoon.

"EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE."

Tuesday evening, May 4th, came. By 8:30 o'clock a crowd of a thousand persons had assembled at the Haymarket Square. August Spies, Editor of The Arbeiter Zeitung, was the first speaker. Beginning with a rambling discussion of the labor question in general, he at last came to the subject of the Chicago troubles. Then he became inflammatory and vehement. "What means this display of gathering guns, cannon, bayonets, patrol wagons, clubs?" said Spies. "What means this calling out of the First Regiment? Is it an entertainment for you? McCormick denies that he is responsible for the bloodshed yesterday. I say he lies. He is responsible for the death of our brothers."

"Put him in the lake!" "A rope is better!" "String him up!" These cries came from the crowd; to which Spies responded with: "Do not make useless threats, my friends, but when you are ready act."

Then other speakers arose and harangued the gathering in much the same fiery strain. After this sort of speech and excitement had continued for a while two police captains at the station nearby, fearing a riot might result, led 170 patrolmen to the place. Raising his club to attract attention, Captain Ward said: "In the name of the state of Illinois, I command this crowd to disperse."

Instantly there was a flight of sparks from an alley behind the speaker's wagon. A bomb fell with a roar in the midst of the police columns. There was an explosion. One policeman was killed instantly and others suffered wounds from which they died. Then a terrific scene occurred. Revolvers were drawn and a bloody battle was fought between the crowd and the policemen. Newspaper accounts differ, but it is pretty generally accepted that seven policemen were killed and sixty wounded, and a number of those participating in the meeting were killed and wounded.

A search for the bomb thrower was made, but he was never discovered. Eight agitators were indicted. Seven of them—Spies, Schwab, Fielden, Parsons, Fischer, Engel and Lingg—were found guilty of murder under Judge Gary's charge to the Jury directing the return of such a verdict if the defendants were parties to a conspiracy, "even though the date of the culmination of that conspiracy had not been fixed." Neebe, the eighth prisoner, was sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment. Lingg committed suicide. The sentences of Schwab and Fielden were commuted to life imprisonment, and Spies, Parsons, Fischer and Engel were hanged. On June 26th, 1893, Governor Altgeld pardoned the three men in prison on the theory that the bomb was thrown as an act of personal revenge against a police captain and that it had not been shown that the bomb thrower was instigated by the convicted men.

Menzel, the late German painter, left about 500 drawings in black and colors. They are valued at $250,000.

Near Parsons, Tenn., there lives a most remarkable young man, a veritable giant for his age. His name is Arnold, and he is not yet 18 years of age. He stands seven feet even in his stocking feet and wears a No. 13 shoe.

Tolstoi has given up reading the newspapers but his friend's tell him the news. He spends much time roaming in the woods.

Next Sabbath morning at 10:30 o'clock the Children's Day services will be held at the First M. E. Church, South, and Dr. Evans desires to administer the rite of baptism to infants. Let all such children be ready at the beginning of the service.

The Wash Henshell is on the Mound City Ways.

The Tacoma will be the Pomeroy packet tonight.

The Virginia will be up tonight for Pittsburgh.

The Henry M. Stanley passed up last night for Pomeroy with a good trip.

Several of the largest towboats will be sent South from Louisville with big tows.

After reaching a stage of 44.5 feet the river began falling yesterday, and this morning the gage marks 43.5.

The packets and towboats have had some lively fights with storms on the river recently. No serious damage has been done to them, however.

Boats having in tow 2,500,000 bushels of coal left Pittsburgh Sunday. Additional shipments will be started on the present stage, bringing the total up to about 7,000,000 bushels, or one of the largest of the season.

Easy Task lessens the labors of the laundress by doing away with hard rubbing. The naphtha and borax in it do the cleaning. Rosin soap—the sticky, bad-smelling, yellow kind—doubles the work—increases the cost—ruins the clothes. Insist on having EASY TASK—5c at your grocer's.

Jane Lowrey, colored, aged about 52, died at her home on Ford's Hill last night at 8 o'clock. Funeral this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house, with services by Rev. Price of the Baptist Church. Interment in Maysville Cemetery.

Miss Lula Bruce McNamara, a niece of Mrs. Fred Schnelle of West Second street, whom she often visited, will be one of the graduates this year from Millersburg Female College, the Commencement Exercises of which will take place May 26th to 30th.

WHAT MAYSVILLE NEEDS

Bitulithic Pavement Stands the Test of Freeze and Thaw

Manistee (Mich.) Advertiser.

Manistee evidently made a wise selection for a permanent pavement when the city fathers chose bitulithic pavement. Two winters have passed since the pavement was laid on some of the streets, and today the streets have the same appearance of newness and stability which they wore a week or two after the completion of the work on them. Many citizens have passed over the two and one-half miles of streets this spring expecting or anticipating the finding of flaws made apparent by the spring thaw. But surprise has been manifest with all, and the fact that not a spot is visible which is not as perfect as when laid has resulted in unanimous approval of the pavement.

The wonderful elasticity of the pavement and its power to withstand the effects of heat and cold have been brought more particularly to view by the action of a spring on Maple street, almost in front of Union Hall. During the winter it was noticed that the pavement had raised somewhat above the level of the surrounding street, a spot several feet square appearing to have risen eight or ten inches.

Yet not a crack or seam was noticeable; as soon as the frost was out of the ground the pavement sank back into place. A natural spring had bubbled up beneath the pavement and as the water froze it expanded. The pavement is again as perfect as when first laid. Several local people have contemplated building walks and driveways of the bitulithic pavement, and it is possible the plant will be opened up late in the summer to take care of this work.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Very Best.

"I have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and want to say it is the best cough medicine I have ever taken," says George L. Chubb, a merchant of Marion, Mich. There is no question about its being the best, as it will cure a cough or cold in less time than any other treatment. It should always be kept in the house ready for instant use, for a cold can be cured in much less time when promptly treated. For sale by all Druggists.
